RETURN OF ST. JOHN'S CADETS .- Co. A, of the cadet corps of St. John's Academy returned from Camp George Washington last evening on the 6:30 boat, and marched to the barracks with knapsacks and blankets strapped, in company front, keeping a beautiful marching line from curb to curb, which was greatly admired by the spectators. The boys looked well, though very much browned from the exposure of camp. They were taken from the 3rd Virginia Regiment, with which they left here, and placed, by Gen. Augur's command, in a cadet regiment un-der Col. J. Sumner Rogers, of the Michigan Military Academy, of whose courtesy and kind treatment they speak in the highest terms. Our people were very much sur-prised and disappointed that they did not bring home a prize, for although they went not expecting and scarcely hoping for one, having lost by sickness and other casualties our of their best drilled men, whose places substitutes considered rather indifferent had to fill, their performance in the field on Saturday had placed them, in the estimation of the great majority of the spectators, next to the and fall of the and the first prize. Who and the heir numbers was comparatively Who and the had been worn the whole year, while _____ of their competitors appeared in new and showy attire, which they were on parade only, their steadiness under the great disadvantage of the tremendous downpour in which they drilled, and for which they had been promised an allow-ance, and the fact that they went through the whole programme eight minutes within the time allowed for it, excelling in that re spect every other cadet company, were thought to have more than offset the inspection. The singular fact that the three compa nies commanded by cadet officers, which had entered a protest against three (the St. John's boys and two New York schools which had teachers in command, were all ranked above them, led same to think that the matter was influenced by it, especially as the commandent of one of those schools was heard to say as Capt. Newby marched his company in for inspection, "Let him go ahead, he'll be ruled out," but whether that is so, for not, is what "no fellah can find out." The cadets are not discouraged; their pluck and good drill were made known to the whole country by the Washington pa pers and the Associated Press, after the con-test, and West Point marking cannot affect their reputation.

Fish.—Since Saturday's report about 2,000 herring and 200 shad have been month of May, now lengthens itself out several weeks. This year it has died out by degrees, and will finally close with this month, the later catch for the market coming mostly from the drift nets. The scores of landings formerly used by the seine-haulers have now dwindled to six or seven. Of the many Maryland fisheries one only of importance was "fished" this year. The most important shore, Marlboro' Point, was carried on this year by Golden & Ewing, of Washington. They employed over fifty men. Some fifty men were en gaged at the Gums by Ballinger & Smith, of this city, and a like number at Clifton, which is operated by Mr. Waller, its owner. Stony Point, with some 70 hands, was carried on by Mr. Wm. Neitzey, of Washington, and the same gentleman sent a number of men to work Ferry Landing. Above this a few hand seines have been worked. The estimated catch for the season is 130,000 shad and 10,000,000 herring, showing that the

An Amusing Incident Recalled - The death, last week, of H. J. Ramsdell, exregister of wills, of Washington, recalls an amusing incident which took place in this office on the night of the Grant-Greely elecin for an hour or so very unsatisfactorily for the democrats, whose platform then was anything to beat Grant, when there was a sudden cessation in the receipt of news. The large crowd present became impatient, and all kinds of theories were advanced, when a messenger arrived with a dispatch, and instantly all was still to hear the latest. The telegram read as follows:

Everything gone to hell. Particulars nunec ary.

H. J. RAMSDELL."

This was received with a mingled shout of amusement and regret, and when order was restored, Mr. Lewis McKenzie, who was present, and who was an ardent anti-Grant man, said: "It's very bad, indeed, but I don't see the necessity for the profanity."
This, also, was received with a shout, after which the office was deserted, the lights were extinguished and the crowd left for

In the graduating class of the West Point Mil-itary Academy this year are Wirt Robinson, Rob-ert G. Paxton and John A. Harman of Virginia. The funeral of the late Capt. Noble Smith took place this evening from his late home on lower Prince street, the services being conducted by Rev. Mr. Nourse. The funeral of Mr John Beach took place from St. Mary's Church this morning.

The steamer Excelsior brought up from Nor folk this morning a large number of condemned bomb shells which were recently bought by Mr. J. Dreifus who will remove the powder from them and sell the shells for old iron. They were unloaded at King street wharf.

The mayflies have entirely disappeared. Mr. Fred. Plaisted, who is to train the Old Dominion boat crew for the 4th of July regatta, is expected here about the close of the week. A row took place yesterday evening among some colored stevedores who were loading one of the Norfolk steamers, but no one was seriously hurt.

A colored man while at work this morning loading the Philadelphia steamer, had the end of one of his fingers mashed off by a piece of iron falling on it.

The steamer Arrowsmith took the place of the City of Washington on the ferry line to day, while the latter steamer was undergoing some slight repairs. The Richmond train, due here at twenty eight minutes to three, did not arrive here until five minutes past five yesterday, the delay being caused by a freight train leaving the track at Brooks's Station, near Quantico. Mr. Joseph DeSilva was accidentally ought in the turn table at the depot of the W. O. & W. railroad this morning and was slightly injured. He was assisted to his home at the residence of Mr. J. T. Hill, where he received attention.
